This resource guide is for anyone who has been impacted by addiction within the Jewish and broader communities. There are many barriers to finding support for yourself or for a loved one struggling with addiction. There are also so many resources available that searching for the right support can be overwhelming. All the resources compiled here have been vetted by addiction and recovery professional staff at JFCS. We hope that you can turn to this resource guide and find what you need whether you are on your first step of the recovery journey, have many years on this path, or are looking for a loved one.

We have included resources to support a variety of addiction and recovery needs. There are Twin Cities resources as well as national ones. You will also find information on support groups, therapists, treatment programs, and online reference tools. We have included Jewish focused support services, many of which are out of state or available online. This resource guide will be regularly updated. Please let us know if you come across a resource that needs to be updated or if you have a relevant addition for us to explore.

Let this resource be a reminder that you are not alone. JFCS Addiction and Recovery Services is here for you and your family with resources, consultations, educational opportunities, sober Jewish holiday celebrations and family coaching. If you would like to connect personally with our Addiction and Recovery Services Program Coordinator, Jennifer Fukuda, please do not hesitate to contact her at (952) 542-4837 or jfukuda@jfcsmpls.org.

This project is supported by the Matt Shapiro Addiction Resource Fund, established by Marilyn and Ralph Shapiro in memory of their son, Matt.
